

Personalized Medicines Symposium and Workshop

24-25 March 2011

Organizers:

Prof Donald Singer
Dr Andrew Marsh
Professor Wendy Currie

The University of Warwick is hosting the 3rd International Symposium on Progress on Personalizing Medicine between 24 & 25 March.

For the first time the British Pharmacological Society (BPS) is organizing a bolt-on specialist workshop, which is a terrific opportunity to take part in small group tutorial sessions with speakers from the symposium.

This workshop is suitable for BPS Diploma in Advanced Pharmacology students and anyone else interested in learning more from these world class selected speakers in a small group setting (maximum 20).

The workshop is being run in addition to the symposium and it is vital that you register for both the symposium and the workshop. Please contact the meetings team at the BPS if you have any further queries.

Fees:

*Symposium: £0 (main presenter of a poster)
£35 (Junior Academic/NHS)
£50 (Senior Academic/NHS), £75 (Non-Academic/NHS)*

Workshop: £25 (academia), £50 (industry)
